

Patrick Krieger

Senior Vice President, Sustainability and Policy

PLASTICS Industry Association

Patrick Krieger is the Senior Vice President, Sustainability and Policy at the Plastics Industry Association. He leads the association's efforts in advocating for the growth of the plastics industry in a sustainable way by working with its members and the leadership of the Sustainability Advisory Board. He works to promote the recycling of plastics through demand-side projects in the New End Market Opportunities program as well as advocating for policies that strengthen US mechanical and advanced recycling. He also oversees the international plastic resin stewardship program, Operation Clean Sweep. He joined the PLASTICS in March 2015 and previously worked for the Animal Health Institute. He graduated from Texas A&M in 2007.
